Neshama Carlebach is an award-winning singer/songwriter. A four-time nominee and winner in the Independent Music Awards for her most current release, Believe, and winner of the Global Music Awards Silver Award for Outstanding Performance by a female vocalist for the album, Neshama has sold over one million records, making her one of today's best-selling Jewish artists in the world. She collaborates with musicians of different faiths, and partners with organizations, synagogues, and churches and is a cornerstone of major Jewish music festivals across the U.S. and globally. Neshama Carlebach began training as a singer and actress at the age of five and as a teenager she performed alongside her father, the late Rabbi Shlomo Carlebach. In 2016, she was inducted into the Brooklyn Hall of Fame, where she received a Certificate of Congressional Recognition for her work. Today she lives in New York with her husband Rabbi Menachem Creditor, and their five children.
